

SUSPENSION OF BERLIN'S COMMUNIST POLICE CHIEF BY THE CITY COUNCIL IS TERMED ILLEGAL BY RUSSIANS

Major General Alexander Kotikov Declares Suspension of Markgraf Not Binding on Soviet Command — Russians Retain Markgraf as Head of The Police Force in Their Sector.

By Omer Anderson
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)
BERLIN, July 30—Suspension of Berlin's Communist police chief by the German city council was termed illegal today by the Soviet commandant.

Russian Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov declared that therefore the suspension of Paul Markgraf as head of the police forces is not binding on the Soviet Command.

The Russians are retaining Markgraf as head of the police force in their sector of the former German capital. Johannes Stumm has taken over as chief in the Western sectors.

The Soviet position was stated in a letter from Kotikov to Berlin's Lord Mayor, Frau Louise Schroeder.

In it Kotikov served notice that the Soviets intend to back Markgraf to the hilt in his fight to retain his position as head of all Berlin police.

Markgraf at the same time renewed a previous threat of reprisals against any Berlin policemen who fail to comply with his orders.

The city assembly, defiant of Soviet attempts to rule Berlin single-handedly, yesterday voted overwhelmingly to accept the city council's suspension of Markgraf.

The Russians meanwhile charged new mass violations of air safety regulations by United States and British aircraft maintaining the airlift to Berlin.

The Soviet News Bureau asserted that "numerous" Allied planes made low altitude flights over Soviet airfields. It charged that the actions caused "deep indignation" in Russian aeronautical circles.

The news bureau declared that Soviet airmen were demanding that "urgent measures be taken to safeguard Soviet aircraft from eventual catastrophes."

Music Supervisor Attends A Workshop At Shawnee

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, July 30—Mrs. A. Erna McKevitt, music supervisor of Bristol township school district, attended the Fred Waring music workshop here last week.

In preparation for her fall choral work, Mrs. McKevitt observed the daily rehearsals and broadcasts of the "Pennsylvanians," taking part in intensive choral rehearsals, studying methods of choral conducting, program building, sight reading and microphone techniques—all under the direction of Mr. Waring, his assistants and members of the NBC production staff.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman sent his anti-inflation bill to Congress yesterday and it ran into immediate Republican opposition. The measure, which calls among other things for the roll-back of prices to last November's levels, was attacked by Chairman Wolkoff of a House committee. Former Federal Reserve Chairman Eccles warned a Senate committee that the country "is certainly going to have a bust," but he could not say when.

Republicans in the House approved the decision of party leaders for a short session; Speaker Martin predicted adjournment in "about fifteen days." No promises were made to act on any matter presented by the President. In the Senate, Southern Democrats opened their filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill and said that they would be able to prevent a vote at this special session.

Ignoring the announced Republican policy of taking no action on nominations, the President sent the Senate a long list for confirmation. He told his press conference that he expected the armed services eventually to end all segregation. The President is considering a plan to discuss national issues with the people in a series of radio "fireside chats."

Developments affecting the inflation problem included announcement of a one-cent rise next week in the price of most cigarettes; authorization of a $67,499,999 annual increase in railroad freight rates, and New York State Labor Department figures showing that, in spite of wage increases, the purchasing power of workers in New York City had dropped to the levels of February, 1943.

Justice Goldsborough refused on legal grounds to dismiss the Government's injunction against a railroad strike.

University of Pennsylvania trustees recommended the election of Harold E. Stassen as the institution's president.

In London, King George opened the first Olympic Games since the Berlin Games in 1936.

Foreign Secretary Bevin, reporting to the Commons on defense plans and the Berlin crisis, said demobilization might be halted because Britain had never assumed "that the policy of our wartime allies might lead to a situation which would involve the use of force." President Truman said he did not intend to send a message to Congress on Berlin. There were reports in Moscow that the Big Four Foreign Ministers might meet in Paris during the United Nations

Since June 23rd

BEDMINSTER, July 30—The parents of Margaret Eleanor Myers, 16, have just learned that the young woman has been seen on three occasions in Philadelphia, the first on June 23rd.

Although it is claimed that police were notified by a young woman from this section that Miss Myers had been seen in Philadelphia, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Myers, of near here, were not informed until this week it is learned.

Margaret has been missing from home since May 7th. The time she was seen on June 23rd, was one day after her scheduled graduation from high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers have learned directly from Miss Patricia L. Abel, Doylestown, a classmate of Miss Myers, that she saw the missing girl on Chestnut street, Phila. At

GOAL OF 300 SCHOOLS SET TO TEACH DRIVING

Automobile Dealers of State Pledge Sufficient
Cars

21 TOOK COURSE IN '47

Setting a goal of 300 high schools in the Commonwealth for the teaching of Driver Education and Training by the close of the 1948-49 school term, new car automobile dealers in the state through Claude S. Klugh, of Harrisburg, manager of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association, today pledged sufficient cars to fill the needs of as many of that number of schools which will offer such courses to students.

Twenty-one high schools were teaching driver training at the close of the 1947 school year and the number had increased to 111 at the close of the 1948 term, it was reported by Mr. Klugh.

"Much of the increase in the number of schools teaching the subject was due to the efforts of the new car dealers of Pennsylvania, who loaned all of the cars used in the courses," Mr. Klugh said.

"The tremendous importance and value of driver training in our schools can readily be seen in studies revealing that trained drivers involved in motor vehicle accidents are 50 per cent lower than the record for untrained drivers," the manager of P. A. A. continued.

"With a potential 1200 schools in the state of sufficient size to offer a course in driver training to their students," Mr. Klugh said, "it is the ultimate goal of the new car dealers of Pennsylvania to have the course taught in every one of those schools."

"In the smaller schools we would like to suggest that two or three schools co-operate in using one car with one instructor for the purpose of advancing the driver training program in these schools, thereby reaching into even the small communities with a program that will have great effect on the future motor vehicle accident and death rate on our highways," he said.

"The state's 3,000 new car dealers affiliated with the Pennsylvania Automotive Association stand ready and willing to co-operate with schools in inaugurating driver training program in order to bring about a reduction in traffic accidents," Mr. Klugh concluded.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Quigley, of Bath Addition, this morning. Mother and child are doing nicely at Harriman Hospital.

Like Master, Like Dog

(By "The Stroller")
Once a dog acquires a habit of staying away from home, he, like his master, finds it a difficult habit to break.

"Rivets" whose master is a prominent Garden street yachtman, was always a "stay-at-home." One day his master took him to the Anchor Yacht Club and a few other visits followed.

"Rivets" liked the atmosphere of the club house and waterfront so much that he began putting in his appearance every morning and every afternoon.

It was noticed, however, that he made a streak for home at lunch-time, and again at dinner-time in the evening.

"Just like our husbands," remarked one member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Anchor Yacht Club as the dog's habits were being discussed at a recent meeting. "Our husbands spend all their time here, and just come home to eat."

RUBBISH FIRE

Bristol Consolidated firemen were called last evening between six and seven o'clock to extinguish a rubbish fire at Washington and Canal street.

4-H Club Girls Hurrying To Complete A Project

TOLLYTOWN, July 30—Miss Frances DiCearas was a guest on Monday evening of the Penn Manor Girls' 4-H Club at Penn Manor Hunting and Fishing club house. This meeting was the third in five bi-weekly meetings held to complete the sewing projects for the annual roundup in August.

The girls decided that no new members are to be admitted until after roundup, inasmuch as the club will receive a certificate if all the girls complete their projects.

Edna Mae Patterson presented an interesting display of post cards from 15 states, Canada, England, and Okinawa.

On Wednesday evening the entire club girls and boys, will participate in a swimming party and "doggie" roast at Warner's lake as part of the regular meeting.

The Penn Manor 4-H softball team is leading the lower Bucks County Softball League. The team has three more games to play before the championship playoff in August in which it hopes to take part.

NESHAMINY, July 30—Five negro boys from Elmira, N. Y., have discovered it is no easy matter leaving home and trying to find employment in a strange city, especially with a shortage of funds.

The boys, all about 15-years-old, ran into difficulties here a few nights ago when it was reported the Paul Valley Market had been entered.

Mrs. Homer Yowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loux, of this place, had just closed the market for the night, about 10 o'clock, when she was notified by a neighbor, Mrs. Sara Lewis, that the place had been entered.

In the meantime Constable Corson, Horsham, learned that five boys had been acting in a suspicious manner about an automobile.

MEN MAY APPLY FOR ENLISTMENT MONDAY

Those Who Have Reached 18th But Not 19th
Birthdays

GIVES REQUIREMENTS

According to information released by M/Sgt. George Calder, commanding officer of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station, located at the Bristol Postoffice, the local station will accept applications starting Monday, from men who have reached their 18th but not their 19th birthdays, who desire a one year trainee enlistment in the army.

The local office has again been assigned a limited monthly quota, and according to Sgt. Calder, the policy of "first come, first served," will be adapted throughout Eastern Pennsylvania. Applications for this particular group of men were first accepted on July 21, and within a few hours after the office was opened, the July quota for the Bristol area was filled.

The applications for the men who apply on Monday will be filed chronologically, showing the date and time the prospective enlistee reports to the recruiting station, and the men will be called for enlistment by a letter upon that basis as their names are reached on the list. The file containing the names of applicants who were not called by the end of the month will be cancelled and it will be necessary for the man who has applied, and who is not called for enlistment during the month of August, to re-apply the first of September.

Men who enlist in this category must follow up their enlistment with six additional years of service in the reserve component to completely satisfy their obligations under the Selective Act of 1948.

GIVES "ROMANCE IN ENGINEERING" TALK

Ray Wiese, One of Founders of Bristol Drafting Ass'n, is Speaker

BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

One of the founders and owners of Bristol Drafting Associates, Ray Wiese, was the guest speaker at the Bristol Rotary Club meeting, held in the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon, when he spoke on the subject, "Romance in Engineering."

Wiese, former administrative engineer at Kaiser Fleetwings, Inc., stated that one of the major activities of his organization was the translation of architect's drawings into working specifications for steel fabricators.

"Because of the nature of our business we are in a position often to get insights into the developments of the future, and to get an advance inkling of the economic trends in this country. And, in addition, because of the 'believe it or not' specifications that are found in some architects' drawings, we find a real romance and fascination in our type of work," Wiese said.

Wiese pointed out that because of the activity of some major petroleum companies and power companies there has been a rebirth of interest in new factories and buildings for these industries.

One new member, Gene Nichols, proprietor of Nichols Photo Service, Mill Street, was introduced to the club by William Begley.

President Warren Woodruff was in charge of the meeting, with singing led by Fred Herrmann, accompanied by J. D. Wilson at the piano. Guests were presented from Philadelphia and Trenton.

It has been announced that the model contest on July 11th at Fleetwings field was not a financial success.

DRAFT APPROACHING

Plans are being laid for the drafting of men for the armed services. Maj. Gen. Lewis B.
Hershey announces that registration for the 18-25 age group will take place between August 30 and September 18. Only about one man in 36 will be inducted. The 18-year-olds, of course, will not be subject to induction until they become 19. They may volunteer for a year's service within the country.

This is a peacetime draft, and is set up on the prospect of continued peace. However, as General Hershey says, "All signals are off in case of emergency."

In the nation there will be only 4,000 places of registration as compared with 120,000 in the registration of 1940. How is it that relatively few places will take care of the nearly 10,000,000 men liable for registration? That is easy to understand. In 1940 all men aged 21 to 36 had to register —many more than under the present act. And they all had to register on one day, which was October 16 of that year.

This time there will be 17 registration days in August and September. That plan will spread the load, and enable regular employees of Selective Service to do the work of interviewing the men.

The heavy volunteer work will have to be done this time, as during the war, by citizens appointed to the draft boards of the state.
The load, as indicated, will be lighter this time unless the age limit is extended.

If we declare war on Russia and knock Roosevelt's old sidekick, Stalin, off his pedestal, how long will we have to feed the Russians?

Apparently money goes farther in Africa, where wives are quoted at $32. f. o. b. Sudan, and no sales tax.

The largest corn crop on record is predicted, but whether radio programs are entitled to credit is not clear.

Feeder cattle have sold for $33 in some markets. What they will bring when finished is left to the imagination.

If Hitler is still alive he must feel he was a rank amateur as he watches how Stalin gets away with it.

the State's leading position among other states of the nation, add impetus to the Commonwealth's continuing program of attracting new industries, business and tourists, and to cite Pennsylvania's prestige as a land of great historical and cultural significance.

Intended to reach into every corner of the State, the seven-day celebration is being organized on an individual county participation basis. Under the direction of the County Chairman, each community is scheduled to plan and execute a program of activities, calling attention to that area's outstanding contributions to the State and the nation.

Through the county system, businessmen and industrialists are cooperating in promoting the Week by planning open house programs and arranging industrial expositions and displays. Exhibits of this type will be displayed in downtown stores, store windows, hotel and bank lobbies. A wide variety of Pennsylvania Week projects—including street decorations arranged by stores and civic groups, mass meetings, memorial services and parades—are underway.

By comparison, Pennsylvania can boast of being among the top states of the nation in diversified industry, agriculture, transportation facilities, school facilities and as a vacationland.

Five Boys Find It Difficult To Get Work

State Troopers Alexander Bahnis and Edward Gunster, of the Doyle-town barracks, who were on duty in this vicinity, picked up the quintet and found on them a quantity of food alleged to have been taken from the market.

In reply to questioning, the boys told the troopers they had hitchhiked from their homes in Elmira to Philadelphia, where they hoped to find employment. After spending a day in search of employment in Philadelphia, the boys decided to hitch-hike it back to their homes, but in the meantime their funds gave out, and they were unable to buy food.

The boys told the troopers they were hungry, and broke into the market to get food. The boys were taken into custody by the officers, who took them before Mrs. Yowell, who was told she might prefer charges. Finding that some fruit had been taken, and that nothing was destroyed, Mrs. Yowell declined to press charges.

Because the boys had been seen loitering around an automobile, they were taken to headquarters of the Upper Moreland Township police, where they were questioned, but the authorities were convinced the boys had no intent to steal the car.

Upper Moreland authorities immediately contacted parents of the boys, and they came to Willow Grove to take them to their homes.

One of the officers taking part in the investigation said every boy in the group was penniless.

The sergeant stressed the fact that it will be necessary for each man who desires to apply for this training to bring with him to the recruiting station either his birth certificate or a statement from the bureau of vital statistics located in his county seat, which certifies to the date of his birth.

The applicant who is accepted for the one year training is enlisted into the army of the United States unassigned and although he receives the same training as a longer term enlistee in the regular army, he cannot be sent overseas. The 18-year-old man, however, is still permitted to apply for the regular army or air force enlistments of 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years.

Applications will be accepted daily for enlistment into the army of the United States for the one year training period, and for enlistment into the regular army and air force for the longer term enlistments, at the local U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, located at the Bristol Post Office.

Missing Bucks Co. Girl Is Seen on Three Occasions that time Miss Abel, who is taking a summer course at the University of Pennsylvania, attempted to follow Miss Myers, but lost track of her because of the crowded street.

The second time the girl was seen was during the Republican convention. This time she was seen by another classmate, Robert Duncan, Warrington.

The last time she was seen was again by Miss Abel.

The first time the girl was seen, according to Mr. Myers, Miss Abel reported the matter to the Doyle-town police.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers received the first intimation that their daughter might have been seen on July 22, when reporters telephoned to the Myers home to learn whether they had heard anything about rumors that their daughter had been seen.

They said they had no intimation from the police or any other persons that the girl had been seen.

It took Mr. and Mrs. Myers from June 23, until the past Tuesday to trace rumors back to the Abel family, members of which told them that Miss Myers had also been seen by Mr. Duncan.

Miss Abel and Mr. Duncan, who were contacted by Mr. and Mrs.
Myers, were positive in their statements that the girl they saw was Miss Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers have announced that they will cover the territory where their daughter was seen in the hope that they will be able to find her.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Edward G. Yeomans
Pastor
Bristol Presbyterian Church

O God, the Creator and Pres-erver of all mankind, we humbly beseech Thee in their behalf. May it please Thee to make Thy ways known unto them and Thy saving grace unto all nations. We pray for all mankind, re-membering that Thou, O God, art not a respecter of persons but Thou didst so love the world that Thou didst give Thine Only Begotten Son that whosoever be-lieveth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life. May Christ become very real to all peoples and may they embrace Him as their personal Lord and Saviour. This we ask in His blessed Name. Amen.
